Mrs. Perry

Class of 2021 Advisor

We want to start off by thanking you for all of your hard work and dedication in these past four years because we know it has not been easy. You have been extremely flexible and accommodating throughout this past year, and spent so much time with us reassessing events in order to make them happen safely. In addition to continuing old traditions, you have helped us create new ones, like the Senior Sunrise, Senior Sunset, and Movie Night, that will hopefully continue for the next classes. Your flexibility, creativity, and humor are always helpful during our meetings and is something that we will all miss next year. We appreciate everything you have done, especially the behind the scenes work that we do not know about. If any other class has you as their advisor in the future, they will be extremely lucky. Although the Yankee Candle Fundraiser was everyone's least favorite event, it was very successful and we appreciate you for making us do it. Thank you for everything you have done for us. We will miss you.

Doctor Hogan

Retiring

Physics is notoriously known for being one of the hardest subjects one can master. Despite the constant struggles that comes with it, there is also a deep sense of accomplishment once a student finally understands a concept. This significant moment in a student's life can be developed with the help of the longtime Physics teacher, Dr. Hogan. Though his class works unlike any others, it's a means of a new learning experience. Through a mostly asynchronous class, Dr. Hogan implores each student to try and master the concepts in their own way, and with a sense of independence that high school students rarely get. Through his use of webassign and his emphasis on group work, Dr. Hogan prepares students for college life, and most importantly, the future with his class standards. Many of his prior students can safely say they are readily prepared for the world that awaits them in STEM. We will certainly miss him here at LHS and wish him all the best!

LHS 2020-2021

This year was hard.

No, scratch that. It f@#$%! sucked. The 20-21 school year met us with the unprecedented challenges of a global pandemic on top of the normal stuff that comes with being a teenager. We were forced to isolate ourselves from our friends during a time in our lives when we typically spend as much time socializing as possible. We may have drifted from friends due to physical separation--I know I sure did. Many seniors applied to colleges without ever stepping foot on the campus, and many of us repeatedly scheduled our SATs and ACTs just to have them canceled multiple times (not that I'm complaining). We lost Homecoming, a prom, and various other school events and fundraisers that happen in a normal year. We have also been living through a tumultuous political climate, and the stress of wondering what could possibly happen next has taken its toll on us. The weight and fear of a global pandemic and a world in chaos (and in our cases, the normal stress of being a high schooler) has resulted in a mental health crisis in our community and in America. You may have lost people you cared about without being able to truly say goodbye, and I am deeply sorry for that.

So yeah, I would say this year has been hard.

We were forced to adapt to a new method of learning--online learning--and it was challenging. For students and for teachers. We all had no clue what we were doing. But we figured it out. We adapted to the circumstances. We learned how to mute and unmute ourselves and continue our studies at a safe distance. We also kept a shred of normalcy by translating some of our traditions into virtual and socially distanced formats. National Honor Society organized a scavenger hunt instead of a Halloween lock-in, and we raised over a thousand dollars for the First Nations Development Institute. The Humanitarian Club has been collecting baked goods weekly for the Neighborhood Supper. We managed to maintain sports seasons and theater productions. We've celebrated birthdays and holidays with parades and Zoom parties. (Who even knew what Zoom was before March of 2020?)

Being in the building this year has felt dystopian in a way; it is so empty without the normal chatter in the hallways. If you had told me last fall that in my senior year we would be going to school wearing masks with between 18% and 32% (on any given day) of the normal student body, I think I would have laughed at you.

But now as more and more people in our community are getting vaccinated, we have a glimmer of hope. A light at the end of the tunnel if you will. As we prepare for the end of the year and the future, I hope we are able to truly celebrate the way that we, as a community, have adapted to these unusual circumstances. The challenges we've faced this year have helped us prepare for a future of constantly adapting to new situations. I hope that those of us staying at LHS will be able to return to relative normalcy and I hope that the seniors will go on to the next chapter in their lives carrying what they have learned this year about themselves and others. We've made it through the year and we have made it through together. We certainly lost some things, but we also gained new experiences that we wouldn't have had in a normal year. Even though this year was hard, we will bounce back and continue to adapt.

I am proud of our resilience and the way that we have come together as a community. I urge you to keep going; things are looking up.

- Katie Asselin

Fellow Students and Staff,

Welcome to our yearbook, Through the Eyes of a Tiger! This year, we worked to create a yearbook that featured the fun activities we all took part in, despite COVID. We wanted you to look back on this year fondly as a time of change and growth in response to unexpected challenges. Although COVID seemed to dominate life, we saw that students and staff were still approaching each day with joy and hope, so we tried to reflect that in our yearbook.

As students and staff adapted to the new schedule, so did the yearbook team. We worked on this yearbook everyday, both at home and in school, trying to be productive despite a glitchy, slow designing website and a lack of students to photograph. Just because there were half as many students, however, did not mean we had a lack of creativity and ideas! To accurately reflect the year, both its difficulties and successes, we created spreads such as "New Norms," "Remote Learning," and "Pet Therapy." Alongside these spreads that showed the COVID side of the year, we made fun spreads including seniors' "2nd Grade Throwback" and "Staff Superlatives." To create the yearbook, we all learned new design and editing skills, having fun the whole way :).

We hope you enjoy this yearbook and we look forward to seeing many of you again next year! - LHS Yearbook Staff 2021

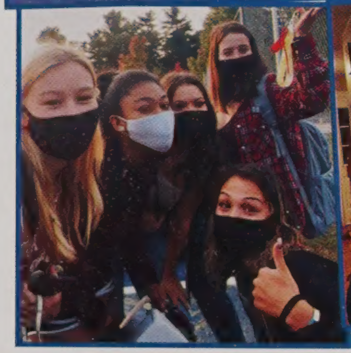
The Class of 2021



To The Class of 2021,

Looking back on these four years as a class, we've faced more obstacles than any other. Despite a pandemic hindering our precious senior year, we've managed to come together and participate in many fun senior events. It's not so much the officers that made this happen, but rather the entire class as a whole. Without each other to rely on, our hallways, trips, senior sunset, and graduation wouldn't have been as memorable as it was. The spirit of the Class of 2021 and our extreme fervor to make our high school years as exciting as possible shone throughout each and every one of us, making our last few months together something that we will cherish. Lastly, our resilience towards our historically remarkable senior year will be recognized in Littleton for many years to come, and may it continue to live in all of us.

Sincerely, Your Class Officers:

Maria Mastorakos: the school didn't smell like sewage every day.
Molly McCabe: Covid only lasted two weeks like everyone had said...
Isabella Medina: I didn't have such amazing friends? Don't think I could have survived without them <3
Lily Morey: I never thought it would be cool if wearing masks became the norm and bought masks online before I even knew the pandemic would happen.
Calli Morvay: "School Help Convo" wasn't a thing?
Elijah Ortuno: the birds aren't real?
Lincoln Palmer: Ben and Will never made up after there big fight
Jacqeline Pandolfo: Our grade got to take a class picture on the stairs like everyone else
Alisha Patel: we were allowed to sing the bad words to Mo Bamba at homecoming
Sofia Perivolotis: What if Mr. Shoe didn't make us do that deck project for months....
Derek Peterson: I actually did that project...
Katie Rank: Kilted never existed?
Gabriella Rausa: I wasn't in Ms. Dery's class in 6th grade
Liam Reidy: Kevin was a comedian
Kyle Richard: I actually tried in school.
Isabella Ruel: the florida kives actually got a fish
Jesada Sanders: Jerry was re-elected as class president.
Virginia Shea: We are all just puppets for a superior being to mess around with until we cause the complete destruction of Earth.
Kylie Silks: I didn't have a million siblings.
Shaye Sloboda: 2020 was actually a good year?
Benjamin Stormwind: The shed was never built
Varshini Sundaresan: i had an attention span that was longer than two minutes.
Derek Sundberg: What if Rick Kackis' videos were shorter?
Emma Sundquist: What if I wasn't as pretty as I am
Colette Tiernan: my hair never melted off
Natasha Toomey: we were actually able to do senior year activities
Luke Witherell: I never became a member of the Major Tard Squad
Paul Wright: I am the last of the dying breed of true patriots, what will we do then, who will fight for you?
Kaitlin Yandik: I actually used my locker instead of carrying everything around all the time?
Ruthie Zhang: Nobody made fun of me for microwaving my apples?

Brendan Abetz: Take all of by paper, pens and pencils, and send them to the shadow realm. Give all of my "greenlights" to a worthy sharpshooter.
William Allen: I, William Allen leave my charm, good looks, intelligence, reputation, athleticism, integrity, politeness, authenticity, respectfulness, optimism, reliability, thoughtfulness... (the list goes on) to my sister Kate Allen.
Katherine Asselin: I leave LHPress to Ella Byrne-Cabot and Kait Cadwallader (good luck) and I leave fun times in study and theater to Maddie Shufrin.
Faith Bergeron: I leave my Chemistry notes to Ella Bergeron, may you learn from my many mistakes :)
Courtney Bottenhorn: I leave Hope Bottenhorn my truck Ian
Rachel Boyer: I leave the title of best roll recovery to Garrett Rieden.
Emily Brown: I leave my parking spot to Cody Shearer and all my broken pencils to Dylan Lokken
Emma Bussiere: I leave the Girls Varsity Soccer team to Reagan, Maddie, and Morgan. Go kill it on the field :)
Nikolas Delfin Canete: I leave my model planes to Mr. Walsh's room.
Jacqueline Carboneau: I leave my parking spot to Jillian Frisoli
Delaney Carroll: I leave Friday night dance parties to the twins
Jenna Corbett: I leave everything to my friend group, Tokyo
Tyler Corrow: leave my 100 tiny clips of Spanish projects to Derek S.
Madison Crory: I leave my parking spot, my place in the LHS theatre program, and colorful eyebrows to my younger brother Dex — the last of the Crory chaos line.
Val Crory: I leave the field hockey team to Brittney Iversen. Make me proud and celly hard
Brock Davis: Brian Marrese (did not realize that was how it was spelt), you get the number 70 jersey and my locker number (uhhhh 361 or 365 I think I don't remember).
Leah Dennehy: I hereby grant the jazz band sheet music that I never returned last year to Ms. Bridge
Lauren Dolan: I leave my parking spot to Amanda Yurkoski and the hosting of parties to take over for me! Have the best senior year and make it the best summer ever love you bff
Nathaniel Farl: I leave my entire inventory to Brock Davis and Ryan Kitain and my collection of rubbers ducks to the common heritage of mankind.
Alexandra George: I leave everything to Fernando
Grace Greenough: I leave Tigers' Den to Alex Cote
Olivia Hamilton: To Evy Kaiser I leave my late for school without consequences pass
Cathryn Hoenshell: Although this year was not the way any of us planned, I don't think I will ever forget the memories I've made with the people I have known since kindergarten, It's crazy that now we are all becoming adults and that we are all moving on to our next journey without each other. Thanks to Ms. Rona we didn't get the senior year we deserved, many of us won't have our prom, senior homecoming, and final sports season, but despite all that we will still graduate together, and we will have all the memories with us that we can remember forever. Farewell LHS, and congratulations Class of 2021
Paige Hornbeck: I leave everything to anyone who can get a perfect NEML score.
Madison Hunt: I leave the lacrosse team to Kylie Beers.
Simon Huynh: Earlier this year I started the Instagram account @littletonmapoc to shed light on the racism that often gets swept under the rug in this town. I'd like to use my last will and testament to formally encourage the young activists in this town to start fighting or to continue to fight and stand up for what you believe in. When you see something unjust occurring in your town in the next year or in the next two, three, or four years, call it out. Don't let this stuff get swept under the rug anymore. Before you go off to college or anywhere else, make sure to leave this town more self aware than when you left it. And remember - hold authoritative figures accountable. Regardless of where I am, I will never stop advocating for the young people in this town.
Katherine Johnson: I leave Morgan the soccer team, go get em #1
Timothy Kelleher: I leave the hockey team to the Lokken boys and Connor MacNeil. Go Tigers!
Sophie Kelly: I give my blind monkey hat to faith mehigan.

Aaron King: I leave the hockey team to Dylan Lokken

Ryan Kitain: I invite anyone to search the auditorium for hidden goodies with their close friend. Trust me, it's way more fun than it seems! In all seriousness, love yourself before you love others. I know that sounds super standard and all, but you gotta. I believe in you.

Matthew Kampf: I leave my tennis racket to Dr. Michaud so he can up his game.

I leave my revolting lunchbox with food all over it to my mother to clean it for me.

Parker Landfors: I leave the locker room showers to Evan Montgomery. Use them up pal.

Brianna Levasseur: I leave my soccer jersey to Amy Proulx, go get em' Amy, and I leave the Jav. Squad to whoever decides to throw javelin.

Braden Lynn: I leave the LHS weight room to the biggest kid in school, Connor Macneil.

Maria Mastorakos: I leave the ski team to Nevelyn.

Isabella Medina: Should I ever die, I leave the responsibility of the annual Halloween party to

Lily Morey: I leave my parking spot to Amy Proulx, My senioritis to Ellie Manser, My Backpack keychain bear to whomever

Calli Morvay: I leave my legacy to my brother, Brady, have a fun four years! I also leave the Cross Country/Track & Field teams to Shae Reagan and the juniors, go win Leagues!

Elijah Ortuno: The urinal in the bathroom next to the lunch room will forever be a sacred place.

Lincoln Palmer: The whole place to the up and coming Palmer's

Jacqeline Pandolfo: I don't really have anything to give but whatever there is, Abby you can take it.

Alisha Patel: I, Alisha Patel, leave Aria the last bit of my sanity, a whole lot of wasted potential, and a somewhat serious caffeinated tea addiction. To Aria and Nadia, I pass along the tradition of writing the current events in Mrs. Moore's room every morning. To Emma Platts, I give my full permission to harass Aria for me.

Sofia Perivolotis: I leave no more Perivoloti to the Littleton Public School System.

Gabriella Rausa: I leave the field hockey vlogs to Hannah Cochran and the Track team to Riley Clark.

Anthony Rawa: I leave Doctor Hogan to Riley Clark and Peter Holland.

Isabella Ruel: I leave both of my beloved lockers and the locker sweatshirt to Maya. Take care of them sis.

Tanya Ryzi: I leave BSXC to JJ Lussier and Rachael Friedman, and the clarinet section to Stella and Emma.

Jesada Sanders: I leave my car to JS and GS (please take care of her, she treated you well so treat her well too), the stage to AY, MS, SA, PO, SM and KF (love you girls), and summer pizza nights to AY.

Virginia Shea: All my possessions will be given to my first cow Bessie.

Kylie Silks: I leave my bad decision making skills to Gabriel and Alexandra Silks.

Shaye Sloboda: I leave my parking spot to Courtney Houde and a wonderful senior year to Evy Kaiser and Emmet Ellis.

Adrienne Smith: I leave my sophomore year hand turkey to Mama Harve

Benjamin Stormwind: I leave the Stormwind name at the door

Varshini Sundaresan: What is my perfect crime? I hide $20 in Littleton. Do I tell you exactly where? No, I give you vague clues. It's priceless. As I'm hiding the money, a police officer catches me. He tells me to stop. It's defacing public property. He's Tiffany. I say ACAB. I fight him. Later

Emma Sundquist: I leave the cheer team to Ella Anderson and Hannah Hoenshell.

Natasha Toomey: my love to my eloquence girls and my saturday preschool dance class to amanda yurkoski

Luke Witherell: I leave everything in the entire world to Ethan King

Paul Wright: I am an unconquerable spirit, an immovable rock in the river. What are you?

Kaitlin Yandik: I leave the title of Regina Latinea to Ms. Kelley, my theater legacy to Matt Pace, and the dance floor to whoever thinks they can take my spot.

Ruthie Zhang: I leave the field hockey team to AY, HC, BI & CB. Have the best senior season ever and fhock it up.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

BEHIND THE MASK

What do you feel were the highlights of being the class president these last years?

The highlight of being class president is always when we finally hold an event we've been planning for a long time, and many people show up together as a class and create those memorable high school experiences. I know that is cliche to say, but bringing everyone together really is the best part, and talking to those that you would not normally see. Many people who would help fundraise with us always made every opportunity incredibly fun. We once did a carwash that raised a lot of money and all the best hits were playing on loud speakers and we even got to wash a bus for extra. On Third Thursdays, it was always enjoyable interacting with the town and other members of the grade. We would create games for kids, like the Duck Game, which I would not have thought about myself. It's really special when everyone's ideas turn into a final project. All three years I was president, our grade was known for having amazing hallways, and I owe it to all our combined creative efforts. Even events during the pandemic like the Senior Sunset had a huge turnout, and we all celebrated being seniors despite the obstacles. I would also have to say I loved making the election speeches, and obsessing over them so much that I always ended up memorizing them. I would definitely want to have a career including public speaking and leadership, and this role really prepared me for that.

How was your role this year particularly challenging, and how do you think you'll remember your senior year when you look back 10 years from now?

Honestly, the nervousness I would get before being elected was the hardest part. The rest was really easy and fun, and my friends in Student Government as well as many members of the class would always help us with events and fundraise. The pandemic made planning very hard in senior year, but luckily in the spring, many events could take place and we orchestrated a lot (all of which I really personally enjoyed). Not to be stereotypical again, but, I think if you come together as a team, you can work through anything. That is exactly what student government did in quite frankly the craziest senior year ever. The biggest things I'll remember from Senior Year when I look back ten years from now would be the Senior Sunrise, Senior Skip Day, and the Senior Sunset. Sunset had the biggest turnout we've ever seen as a class, and it'll definitely be something I remember for years to come. These memories don't yet include future plans we're making for the class before we all part ways, and I'm sure those will be even more of a blast.

What are your plans for next year, and the future in general?

Next year, I'll be attending Northeastern as an Engineering major, though I might dabble in Computer Science and Art as well. I plan to study abroad and have international co-ops sometime in college. I want to travel as much as I can, especially after this past year of staying home. I'm not sure what I want my job to be yet, but I definitely want to help underprivileged groups and individuals through my occupation. I am also a big believer in introducing STEM to women worldwide who may not have the same opportunities to learn it. I strictly believe education is the path to equality, and I want to take part in enforcing that. Women in STEM should be more abundant, and I personally think anyone can be capable of it if given the right assistance. I have come to realize that when one is born with so much, it only makes sense to spread that knowledge to others, who are just as deserving.

Varshini Sundaresan
Class President

When your classmates describe you, they use words like "legendary," "extraordinary" and "fun." When you look back over your time at LHS, what are the most memorable experiences that come to your mind?

I am very honored to know that I am described this way. I would have to say a very memorable experience for me is always being able to do the russian dance after (almost) every win in football. Also, technically before my highschool career started, but when I "fought the tree, but the tree won." People who don't understand what happened may be confused, but is probably one of the biggest moments that has stuck with me throughout high school.

Clearly, you've made the most of your last 4 years, but what are you the most proud of having accomplished during your reign at LHS?

I am most proud of winning homecoming court three years in a row, from Sophomore year to Senior year. I am not entirely sure what I do that I am able to achieve it, but hey I'll take it! Also having as many friends as I do is something I am proud of having. They are the ones that keep me striving every day.

Is there anything about you that might surprise your peers to know?

I think the most surprising thing about me that I can think of is that I was not always the outgoing, extraordinary, fun guy my classmates say I am. I used to be more of an introverted kid that preferred to stay inside and play video games or watch TV, however, I believe this definitely changed when I was able to get more social experiences with Boy Scouts and football.

What parting words or advice do you have for your classmates after they graduate?

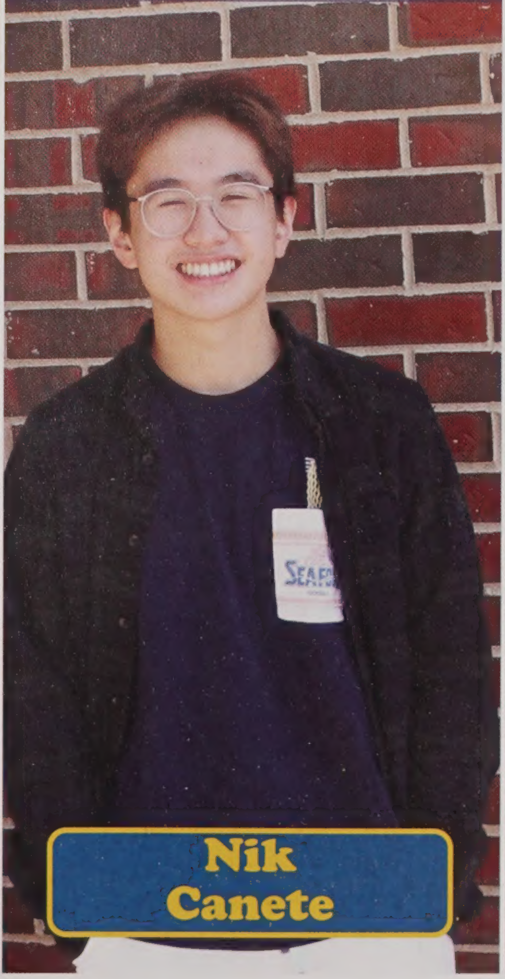
My biggest advice is that life's too short to grow up. Go wild. And in the words of Robin Williams, one of the most famous comedians and somebody I inspire to be like: "You're only given a little spark of madness. You mustn't lose it."

Brock Davis

When your teachers and classmates describe you, they use words like "intelligent," "motivated" and "extremely active." When you look back at your time attending LHS, what do you consider your fondest memories and greatest accomplishments?
My time at LHS has been one of the greatest experiences of my life, and I am sad to leave it behind. Whether it was writing "This Day In History" in Mrs. Moore's advisory, popping into Mrs. Kern's room just to say hi, or joking around after school with Fernando in the cafeteria, these core memories formed when I least expected them. Of course, I can't forget to include spending countless hours exploring physics with Dr. Hogan, chatting with Ms. Barry about anything and everything, or even running attendance to the office just to stop in and say hi to the administration.
My greatest accomplishments at LHS include being on the Varsity Tennis team, student government, NHS, and school council. On the robotics team, my greatest accomplishments include building world-class robots and attending the World Championships in Detroit to compete against the best of the best from around the world. I am proud to say that LHS has encouraged me to be the best possible version of myself, and I have developed a strong foundation for my future engineering studies at Carnegie Mellon University
Where did you develop your passion for robotics and engineering, and how you do see yourself pursuing those passions in the future?
My passions robotics first started when I joined a FIRST robotics team in Littleton. I fell in love with the mechanical aspect of the robot and nosedived into the world of engineering. The thrill of sending CAD parts to be cut, and taking them fresh off the mill or lathe, or programming a CNC router to cut a 9-hour part and being able to leave it overnight- it was an intoxicating feeling.
In the future, it's my dream to work on autonomous robots that will explore the ocean floor. As a prior ocean exploration intern at the New England Aquarium, I have been long fascinated by our blue planet, and the natural wonders that lay on the uncharted ocean floor. Creating a robotic mimicry device to man undersea vehicles from land would revolutionize oceanic exploration and allow me to pursue the crossroads of my passions.

Alisha Patel

People have frequently marveled at your piano playing throughout the year, and have found it to be both a source of wonder and joy during what has otherwise been a difficult year. How long have you been playing and is there a favorite piece that you enjoy to play?
It all started about 10 years ago, when I asked my cousin to teach me how to play Mary had a little lamb. After that I started taking lessons and did so until around freshman year, and from then on I've been studying a few songs independently. I started learning Chopin's Fantaisie Impromptu about a month ago and I've been working on it since then. It's definitely been one of the most ambitious pieces that I've attempted to learn, but it's just so satisfying to play when it comes together. I'm also a huge fan of some other romantic era pieces like Debussy's Claire de Lune, and Listz's Liebestraume.
In addition to playing the piano, you were also awarded the senior superlative for Most Artistic. In general, how has your love of art helped you throughout your time at LHS? Is there an art project of which you are particularly proud of having created or is especially memorable?
I really like doodling on the sides of my papers (of course only when I had free time, and totally not in the middle of class). Usually outside of music I mainly just spend time drawing. My best stuff usually comes when I'm procrastinating doing homework.
Looking back on your senior year at LHS, how do you think you'll remember this time when you look back 10 years from now?
I'd say I had a pretty normal and chill 4 years of high school. I don't really have any regrets besides not taking Algebra in freshman year, but other than that it's been good.



Nik Canete

How did you develop your love of writing, and where have your sources of inspiration come from over the years?
My love of writing can really be attributed to my mom, who instilled in me a love of reading at a young age. She has always encouraged me to follow my dreams and to spend time on the things I love. Many of my teachers throughout my time in the Littleton Public Schools have encouraged me to continue reading and writing, and have helped me learn to believe in my own abilities. As I continue my education, I hope to apply my abilities in reading and writing to a career in journalism or politics.
What are you most proud of having accomplished over your time at LHS?
I am incredibly proud of my achievements in my time at LHS, as well as the connections that I have made with my peers and teachers. I feel like I have taken full advantage of the opportunities offered to me by participating in extracurricular activities such as the Humanitarian Club, National Honor Society, and the theater program, as well as using my membership in these organizations to give back to the community.
Looking back ten years from now, how do you think you'll remember your senior year and the COVID-19 pandemic?
This last year has been such a blur, but I think that I will remember the things that I have done with my closest friends to stay connected even when we couldn't spend time together in person. We did a lot of Netflix parties and late-night facetimes. I will also remember the ways in which we came together as a community to support each other, despite the challenges: doing community cleanups, making masks to donate, and adapting our school traditions into socially distant formats.
What are your plans for next year, both in terms of literary aspirations and work/education?
Next year I plan to attend college and continue to foster my love of learning and helping others. I hope to pursue a career in the field of political communications or journalism. I plan to use what I learn in college to continue helping in the pursuit of social and environmental justice.

Katie Asselin

Jerry Soong first started play Candy Land when he was a Freshman in High School. Since then, he became the #3 Candy Land player in Central Massachusetts, earning the moniker "King Kandy." "It was really hard when I first started," said Jerry, "but after years of practice I eventually got the hang of it." Despite his great prowess in Candy Land, he believes his greatest accomplishment is his service to the community. "I remember this one time, I volunteered to build bed frames for the homeless. Really brought a tear to my eye." During his time at Littleton High School, Jerry truly went above his line of duty by accumulating 12 hours of community service, bettering countless lives in the process.

A Q&A with King Kandy (AKA: Jerry)

What is your favorite book? Crime and Punishment by Fyodor Dostoyevsky. I thought it provided a poignant commentary on the consequences of Russian nihilism in domestic and global affairs.

Who would you say is your biggest inspiration? My parents. Hands down. They worked tremendously hard to make my life easier, helping me out in innumerable ways, and I just cannot thank them enough.

What is your street name? Big Jerry

What is your favorite type of music? I love listening to classical. This stuff has been good for hundreds of years. It is simply much better than what we have today.

What would you say is the hardest part about Candy Land? It is a very difficult game that requires great calculations to be made in the blink of an eye.

What is your favorite subject in school? I simply cannot get enough of physics. I find the universe to be so interesting, and I cannot think of an endeavor more noble than trying to unravel the mechanism that governs it.

Who is your hero? Wow! That is a very difficult question! Gun to my head, I would say John Lenin.

What is your biggest weakness? Grandma Nutt.

Is there anyone you can attribute your success to? Definitely! I think I own all my success to all my teachers over the years. I truly believe that Littleton is a special place that truly cultivated my passion for learning.

What advice do you have for future students who want to follow your footsteps of greatness? "D's Get Degrees"

In Recognition of Charity Work & Giving Back to the Community

Paige Hornbeck

Where did you develop your passion for helping the community and doing charitable work?
In 6th grade, the Health Club would go to the Life Care Center and make cookies with the residents. I think seeing how a small deed could have such a big impact on someone's day ignited my passion to turn the hobby of helping others into a lifestyle. I have incredible role models who have inspired me. My fabulous parents have always taught me to see the good and be the good. Mrs. Harvey's mentorship, genuine kindness and hard work have shaped me into the leader I am today. Love you Mama Harve!

Calli Morvay

What service project has been the most memorable over your time at LHS?
One of the most memorable projects I was a part of was the Community Clean-Up project. This is a committee run through the National Honor Society. We spent one Saturday cleaning the Castle in the Trees playground. It was fulfilling to hear the gratitude from families for our simple efforts. It was rewarding to see the difference we made all around our town working together. Another service project that left an indelible mark on me was fundraising and participating in The Run to Home Base at Fenway Park. This is an annual MGH/Red Sox Foundation charitable race that supports healing the invisible wounds of veterans - post traumatic stress and traumatic brain injuries. This event was moving and poignant. I was grateful to have the community's support in fundraising for this charity, together we made an impact.

Grace Greenough

Looking back on the 2020-2021 school year and trying to coordinate service work during a pandemic, what were the biggest challenges you faced and how did you overcome them? One of our biggest projects we work on all year round is Rise Against Hunger. Last year and this, we have struggled to find a date/location safe for all volunteers during the pandemic. Our original date for this year was Feb 7th which we ended up moving to May 15th with a makeup date of August 7th in an attempt for seniors to still be able to attend their final Rise Against Hunger. We also did not have our main way of fundraising this year- Bake Sales. We would have them at Donlands, every day at lunch, and at athletic events, so to make up for those we hosted restaurant fundraisers and canning at Dunks. Luckily, we have matched our goal and will be packaging meals for roughly 25000 people in May.

Remote Learning is where the student and the educator are not physically present in a traditional classroom environment. Information is relayed through technology, such as video conferencing (Google Meet/Zoom), discussion boards, and online assessments. Remote Learning can occur synchronously with real-time peer-to-peer interaction and collaboration, or asynchronously, with self-paced learning activities that take place independently of the instructor.

A Different Kind of Fall...

To say that a lot was different in the fall of 2020 would be a massive understatement. As a result of the COVID-19 Pandemic, many events that normally take place over the course of a school year were canceled or postponed (indefinitely). There was no football or cheerleading, no homecoming dance, no halloween parade or school musical. Students couldn't even attend sporting events as spectators, or have school assemblies. Clubs were delayed for the year or forced to go virtual. Nonetheless, Littleton High School persevered, getting creative and finding ways to celebrate and continue traditions.

Snow? Time for Hockey! Team members of the boys' hockey team gather in the snow after their game.

Clean-Up! Several students participate in a town clean-up at Long Lake Beach.

The Shot Heard Around the World! Brian M. wins the Pod Championship at the buzzer.

As the fall season came to a close, winter began, not only bringing snow but also a few changes! The annual winter semi-formal dance was cancelled as well as other activities, including girls' ice hockey and pep rallies. Despite this, other winter sports ran as scheduled; basketball, boys' ice hockey, gymnastics, and skiing, with indoor track postponed to the fall two season. All the teams led successful seasons, with boys' basketball winning their pod championship game! Other success was seen in a town clean-up, Polar Plunge, and March Spirit Week! In the March Spirit Week, all grades were able to participate in dressing up for their themes, donating to Penny Wars, and decorating hallways. As spring approaches, all students and staff look forward to the warm weather and the return of many students in-person.

Under the Sea! Sophomores gather materials to create their seascape.

Art Thou Romeo? Student actors in the play Romeo and Juliet rehearse.

Freshmen Spirit! For their first spirit week, the freshmen work together to decorate their hallway.

Romeo and Juliet! At local Castle in the Trees, student actors in Romeo and Juliet practice their scenes.

CLASS OF 2021

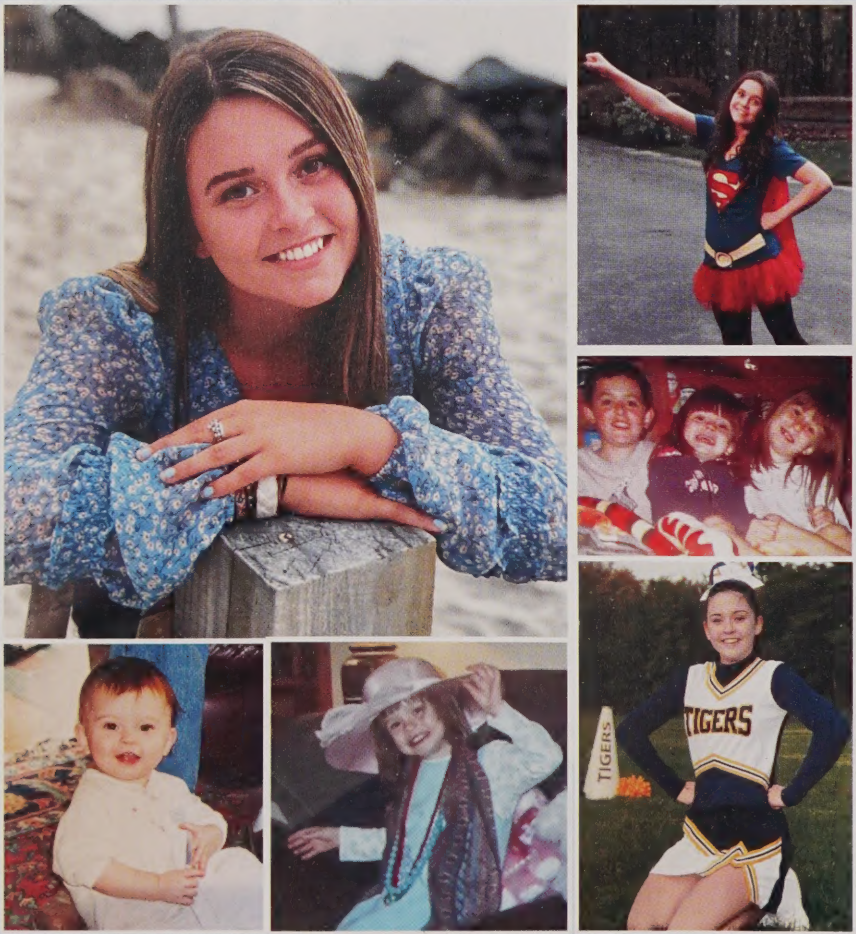
WE LOVE OUR SENIORS!

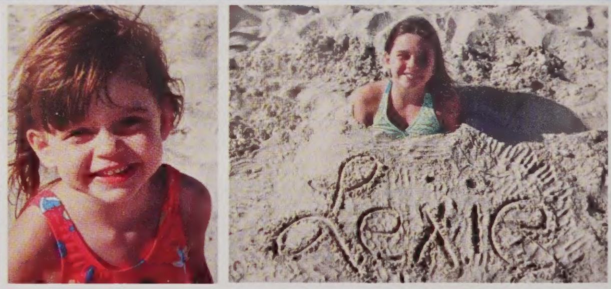
#TIGERPRIDE

Congratulations Delaney!

We will always think of you as our little girl, even as you grow into a beautiful and strong woman right before our eyes! We are so proud of you! Always stay true to yourself and the sky is the limit!

Love you more,
Dad, Mom, Gage and Corinne xo





Congratulations Lexie!

We are all so proud of the amazing person you have become. It has been an absolute pleasure watching you throughout the years transform from Lexarooda and a little peanut who played with her zucchini baby to a perfectly well rounded, kind, beautiful and "super smart" young woman. We are so proud of everything you've done and wish you all the luck in what we are sure will be an amazing future. You really do deserve nothing but the best!! You've earned it!!!!

Love
Mom, Dad, Matty and Hailey

Marisa

We are so proud of you! We love you! You are amazing! Congratulations!

Congratulations, Derek!

We are so proud of you!
It has been our pleasure to watch you grow into the young man you have become! You're smart, have an awesome personality, you're a very talented athlete and great sportsman, brother and son who can accomplish anything you set your mind to. Life brings lots of challenges, as you have already experienced firsthand. So don't be afraid to reach for the stars, dream big and take chances, but most of all have fun along the way and you will be successful in what ever you do!
Thanks for the Memories!

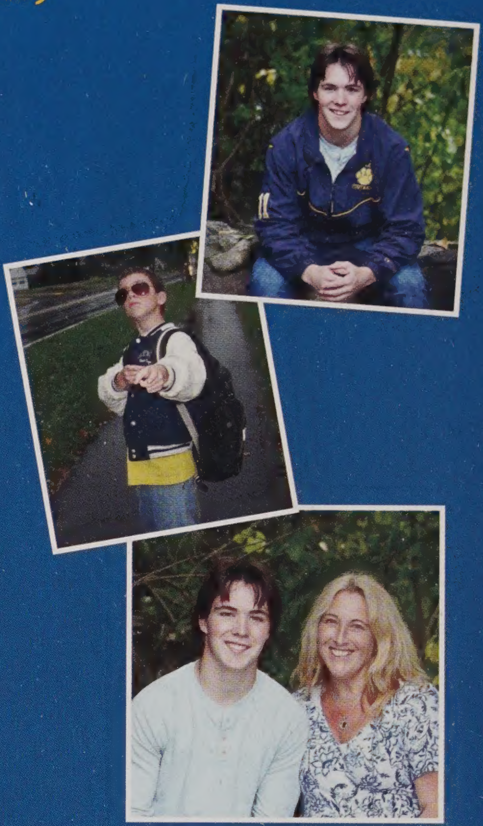
Thank you for all the years of laughter, silliness, and fun. From dancing in the windows at Donelan's when you were three to Sponge Bob to sports to the craziness that has been 2020-2021. You have always been a shining light in our lives. Although the road hasn't been easy, always keep your chin up, continue to be strong, and you are bound to succeed. We are so proud of you!

Love,
Mom, Sawyer, and Tom



Congratulations
Faith!

We admire your passion and commitment to everything you do! Whether you are on stage, in the classroom or taking care of your pets, you always shine! Your future is so bright - at whatever college you choose to attend in the fall! You are always "pointed" in the right direction - with your kind heart leading the way. Let your butterfly wings continue to flutter as you embrace your new adventure!

We love you! Mom, Dad, Gavin and Ella

THE NOTORIOUS RBG

The nation mourns Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg's death on Sept. 18 at the age of 87 from complications due to metastatic pancreatic cancer. Over the course of her prolific legal career, Ginsburg argued many landmark cases relating to gender discrimination and was nominated to the Supreme Court in 1993. Known for her dissenting opinions and the collars she wore with her robes – especially her dissent collar – Ginsburg gained pop-culture fame and was often referred to as "RBG." She was the first woman to lie in state at the U.S. Capitol, and her death raised heated debate over when a new justice should be confirmed with the election so near. Photo credits: Newscom and Yale Law Library

CONGRATULATIONS JERRY!

no matter where you are in the world, we are proud of you!
-Daddy, Mommy, and Vivian-

"You're only given one little spark of madness.
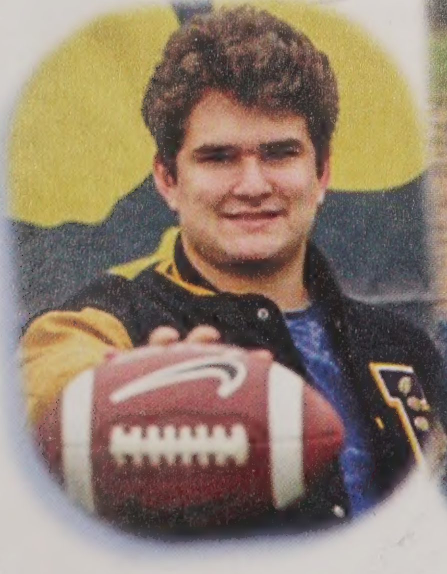
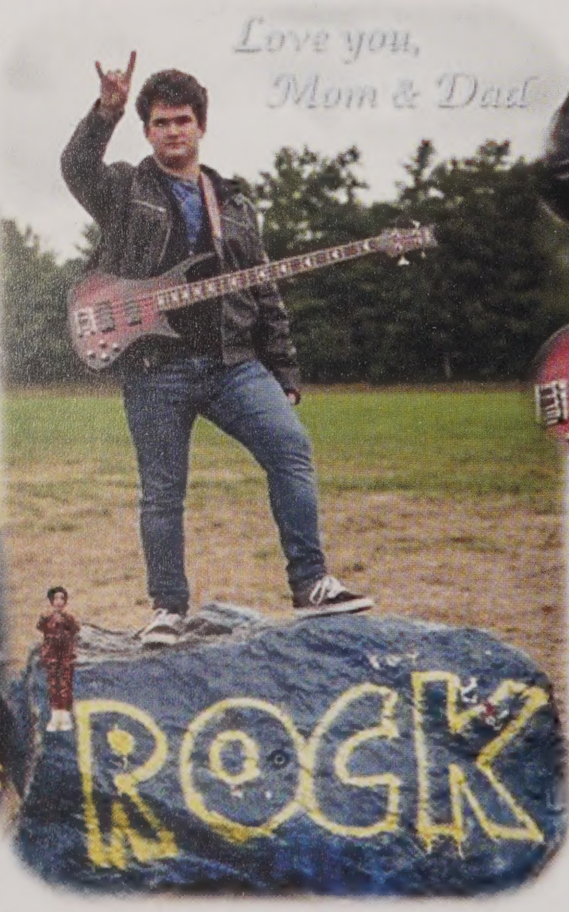
You mustn't lose it."
- Robin Williams





Love you,
Mom & Dad
